Registration and Welcome

To Infinity and Beyond: Teaching in the Modern Music Studio

Teachers have always worked creatively with currently available technology. Today, however, we have way too many choices: technology-equipped acoustic pianos, digital keyboards, computers and mobile devices, professional and educational apps, the Internet, and so much more. Join George and Paul for a lively session that demystifies contemporary technologies for music instruction and focuses on tools that really make a difference.

George Litterst, President, TimeWarp Technologies; Software Developer

4:15–5:15 PM

With the Right Tools, Any Student Can Learn to Improvise!

The lost art of improvisation needs not stay lost! Start with an acoustic or digital piano, add user-friendly MIDI playback software and appropriate MIDI files. Then, sprinkle in some creative guidance from you, the teacher. In this environment, students at all levels will be ready and eager to create music spontaneously.

Paul Sheftel, The Juilliard School; Westminster Choir College of Rider University
